Well. It appears those little green rascals are at it again.

More than 100 people reported seeing an unidentified flying object about midnight Saturday. They said it appeared to be a large orange or gold sphere, which hovered overhead, and then left at high speed.

Officials at Vancouver International Airport control tower said they did not see the object, and did not trace it on radar. They said many such objects show up on the radar screen, but often turn out to be flocks of birds.

Anyone with further information on Saturday's UFO may contact the secretary of the Vancouver Flying Saucer Club at 261-0179.
